

PEACE & SOCIAL JUSTICE
Hope for a New Year

A new year offers new hope.

People everywhere are in need of life-giving hope and love. Communities are fractured, relationships are broken, ethnic and religious divides breed distrust, too many political systems are corrupt and oppressive, and individual children and adults live in despair.

Hope for today is hard to find, let alone hope for tomorrow. Yet, hope is Christ's gift to us—the One Body.

As we seek to follow Jesus' command to love God and love our neighbors, we truly believe we can offer hurting people the gift He promises: life in all its fullness. Through this gift, relationships with people and with God are restored, communities are rebuilt, and people in bondage to fear and poverty are set free.

Please join us in 2007 as we put our faith into action—using the blessings we've received from God to serve the poor and restore fullness of life.

The Peace & Social Justice Committee

Excerpted from WorldVision, Christian Impact
www.Worldvision.org

www.sspeterandpaul.net (Ministries/ Christian Service/ Peace)
Next Social Justice Mtg.: Thurs.1/25/07; 7:30-9:30, Rm. 227